FALL STOCKING UPDATE (9/25/2020): The Fisheries Division has begun our fall trout and Atlantic Salmon stockings. We plan on completing our typical fall 2020 stockings. Note however that a few stockings have been postponed due to closures of their access areas, and with the state experiencing a drought, there may be some additional changes to scheduled stockings due to environmental conditions.

SPECIAL REMINDER FROM DEEP CONCERNING FISHING THIS FALL! DEEP is reminding all anglers to continue following good social distancing practices. Anglers should wear masks when within six feet of anyone who's not a household member, practice good personal hygiene, stay home and away from others if you feel sick, and avoid crowded areas.

Below you will find the listings of what's been stocked so far this fall, what is scheduled to be stocked this fall (note that some areas are stocked more than once so you may find some waters listed in both the "stocked" and "to be stocked" columns), and finally a list of areas where stockings are postponed due to restricted access or dam removal work (Roaring Brook). Anglers should also check out our Interactive Stocking map at:

We will update this report on Wednesdays and Fridays. Also note that this list is in alphabetical order (and not by date of stocking) with Atlantic Salmon stockings listed first. Stay safe!
